

SELF-GUIDED TOUR

1

REFLECTING POND

A popular spot to study and socialize, this campus landmark is located between the John C. Hitt Library and Millican Hall. During Homecoming week, UCF hosts Spirit Splash, when students and alumni rush into the Reflecting Pond for a chance to catch the year's signature rubber duck.

2

JOHN T. WASHINGTON CENTER

Located adjacent to the library and the Student Union, the John T. Washington Center is named for one of the first Black faculty members at UCF and features a mural of him and his contributions to campus. This gathering place, also referred to as the breezeway, includes UCF Card Services, a barber shop, a campus bookstore, Chick-fil-A, Domino's Pizza and services for banking, mailing and printing.

STUDENT UNION

The heart of the UCF campus is a hub for activities, events and socializing. Eateries include Steak 'n Shake, Smoothie King, Panda Express, Starbucks and others. Plus, there are study spaces and computer labs with free printing, a computer store, lounges, a convenience store and the SGA Ticket Center, which offers student discounts to local attractions, including Disney and Universal, as well as events.

MEMORY MALL

COLLEGE OF ENGINEERING AND COMPUTER SCIENCE

With three buildings housing the College of Engineering and Computer Science, this is where students work with industry leaders such as Lockheed Martin, Boeing, Harris Corp., NASA and Siemens. It's also where cutting-edge nanotechnology research takes place at the Advanced Materials Processing and Analysis Center. In the atrium, be sure to take a peek through the glass walls of the Idea Lab, then scope out the replica ride vehicle from Disney World's Space Mountain.

COLLEGE OF BUSINESS

Home to some of UCF's most popular majors, the college prepares students to succeed in a rapidly changing economy. Every weekday, The EXCHANGE hosts faculty and community leaders who engage students in thought-provoking conversations. Entrepreneurial ideas become a reality thanks to startup resources from the UCF Blackstone LaunchPad. The Office of Professional Development, located in Business II, helps students set career goals in motion from day one.

JOHN C. HITT LIBRARY

The John C. Hitt Library [named for our university president on the occasion of his 20th anniversary at UCF] offers a variety of space options for students.

1 AUTOMATED RETRIEVAL CENTER

The Automated Retrieval Center, or ARC, is where the library stores almost the entire collection of books and other print materials. These items are stored in four-story tall rows of bins retrieved by a robotic arm. Books are requested on the library website and picked up at the Circulation Desk. This area is not open to the public, but a viewing area to see the ARC in action will be open once construction on the third floor is complete.

2 STUDY SPACES

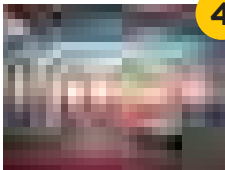

The library floors are designated to be quieter as you go up. The first and second floor common area has collaborative area for students to meet without disturbing others. The fifth floor has a quiet zone for students looking for absolute silence. The first, third, and fourth floors have reservable rooms designated for students group study.

3 GALLERY

Walk north towards the Student Union. As you follow the wall, take a left towards the Gallery, located in room 403. This exhibition space is dedicated to displaying art, rare collections, and archival materials that are preserved by Special Collections and University Archives. This gallery is open to the public.

4 READING ROOM

Just past the Gallery and directly above the ARC sits the fourth floor Reading Room. This space has become a favorite for students to soak up the natural light as they work in a quiet, peaceful environment.

5 LIBTECH DESK

One of the busiest places in the library has nothing to do with books. The LibTech desk offers a wide variety of tech equipment and accessories to support students. Laptops, iPads, Apple Pencils, 4K&HD Cameras, mobile device chargers, projectors, and calculators are just a few of the more popular items available to be borrowed. The staff also provides basic tech support and printing assistance to students in the library.
