FROM THE PRESIDENT

Dear Graduates and Families:

Congratulations, Class of 2023. We are so very proud of you. Your optimism, determination, persistence and compassion are an inspiration to the entire UCF community.

The degrees we celebrate today are the fruits of your long labor, often under extraordinary circumstances. The effort you gave attending classes, discovering in labs, creating with faculty and classmates, and working through internships — they led you to this moment and to this new beginning.

Elements of today's commencement ceremony have their roots in the 12th century. You are part of an age-old tradition of scholarship, learning and creation. But you are executing this tradition in revolutionary ways. You are among the most accomplished, diverse and innovative graduates in history. You will develop the solutions, technologies, philosophies and relationships that will drive a better future. You will change the world like no generation before — I have no doubt.

Our graduates have joined a network of 360,000+ alumni. Together, you will be ambassadors and supporters of this great university. The old saying is that there is power in numbers. I encourage you to use it wisely in service to those around you and to help those coming up behind you.

I would also like to give a special thank you to the loved ones of our graduates. Your support and encouragement contributed more to this milestone than you know. We are grateful to you.

When someone says, “Go Knights,” I always listen for the reply, “Charge On!” It's not just a cheer, it's our way of life and how we face the future.

In that spirit, Charge On, Class of 2023!

Alexander N. Cartwright, Ph.D.
President

COMMENCEMENT SPEAKER

THE HONORABLE MIGUEL A. CARDONA

U.S. SECRETARY OF EDUCATION

Dr. Miguel A. Cardona became the 12th U.S. Secretary of Education after a distinguished career as an elementary school teacher, principal, district administrator, and Connecticut education commissioner. He is a firm believer that being an educator isn't only a job — it's an extension of your life's purpose.

Secretary Cardona's focus throughout his career on raising the bar for equity and excellence for all learners guides his leadership of the agency in service of the nation's 65 million students and families. Secretary Cardona oversaw efforts to safely reopen schools for in-person learning, going from only 46% of school buildings open when President Biden took office to nearly 100% open just nine months later, while distributing historic federal education funding for P-12 schools and colleges; working to increase higher education access, affordability, and student success; and leading unprecedented federal efforts to transform the country's student loan system. Across all of these priorities, Secretary Cardona has highlighted the urgency of seizing the moment through intentional collaboration — and the opportunity we have not only to recover from the pandemic, but to reimagine a more equitable education system that works better for all.

He and his wife Marissa are proud parents of one student in public high school and another in college.

Baccalaureate Honors

Baccalaureate Honors are conferred on those students who complete a minimum of 48 semester hours at UCF. Honors awarded will be based on overall cumulative GPA including transfer credit.

Honors are distinguished as follows:

-  summa cum laude— students with 3.950 - 4.000
-  magna cum laude— students with 3.900 - 3.949
- * cum laude— students with 3.800 - 3.899

The asterisk (*) appears as indicated above next to the name of each graduate who may qualify for Baccalaureate Honors.

Because records for the final term are incomplete at the time the commencement program is printed and final term grades may affect relative rankings and overall GPA, indication in the program of graduation with Honors is presumptive rather than conclusive.

Baccalaureate Honors distinctions can also be referenced at:

INCLUSIVE EDUCATION SERVICES

In fall 2015, UCF began offering students with intellectual disabilities access to a non-degree, vocational preparation, and college experience through Inclusive Education Services (IES). This innovative program is one of 28 in the state of Florida and 315 nationally to provide educational opportunities and career development skills to students with intellectual disabilities at an institution of higher education.

IES is a unit within the Toni Jennings Exceptional Education Institute and part of the College of Community Innovation and Education. Upon successful completion of a 42-unit curriculum, students earn a Professional Services Credential through the Division of Continuing Education. The Continuing Education credential provides students with the opportunity to specialize in one of three concentrations: hospitality, early childhood education and social services. These areas align with the highest job growth and fastest hiring industries in Central Florida based on recent employment outlook data. Individuals with intellectual disabilities have a history of low employment rates in our country, hovering around 20% employment based on national statistics. Experiences such as IES aim to improve this outcome.

Each concentration within the Professional Services Credential includes academic courses, including those the students audit with degree-seeking UCF students, on-campus work experiences and a capstone community internship. At UCF, students also live on campus and participate in student activities, opportunities and resources, such as attending football games, working out at the Recreation and Wellness Center, and participating in one of UCF's more than 600 student clubs and organizations.

UCF is pleased to celebrate the fifth group of students to complete the IES experience. The list of students includes:

COMMENCEMENT CEREMONY AND ACADEMIC REGALIA, AN EXPLANATION

The Academic Procession has descended from religious processions that came to include teaching faculties when universities were closely associated with the medieval church. The presence of a piper in American academic processions has become popular in recent years. The pipers for UCF's ceremonies are David Enzfelder and Reg Lyle.

The procedure followed for the awarding of degree is based on a practice developed at the University of Paris almost 800 years ago. In those days, the bishop of Paris, like every other bishop, was responsible for local educational curriculum and degree granting. His authority in these matters, however, soon came to be disputed by the teachers. They asserted that only they could be the proper judges of the qualifications of the students. This threatened impasse was resolved by a compromise under which the teachers, or masters, judged the merits of the students and then recommended them to the bishop for their degrees. Today's ceremony includes a secularized version of that procedure. The dean of the college certifies that the student candidates are qualified to receive their degrees. The president then authorizes the awarding of the degree.

Academic heraldry in the form of academic dress reaches as far back as the earliest days of the oldest universities. Formal directives concerning the correct and proper wearing of academic regalia date back to the early 14th Century. In the United States, as a result of our English heritage, caps and gowns have been used since colonial times.

As heraldic devices such as shields, coats of arms, and standards could identify a knight and his individual heritage, academic regalia can describe the academic origin and accomplishments of the wearer. Easily recognizable are holders of bachelor's, master's, and doctoral degrees. With the same glance, the trained eye may identify the university that conferred the degree as well as the individual's field of learning.

The shape and decorations of the gown are the keys to the highest degree earned by an individual. The gown for bachelor's has long pointed sleeves and is designed to be worn closed only. The master's gown has an oblong sleeve and is open at the wrist; the rear part of its oblong shape is square cut, and the front part has an arc cut away. The master's gown may be worn open or closed. The doctor's gown has bell-shaped sleeves, may be worn open or closed, and may be most readily identified by its velvet facing down the front and by three velvet chevrons on each sleeve.

It is the hood, however, which is the most important and distinctive feature of American academic pageantry. Chevrons enable those attending an academic function to distinguish at a glance the wearer's academic heritage. The bachelor's hood, seldom seen in American academic circles, is three feet long with a two-inch edging of velvet. The master's hood is three and one-half feet long with a three-inch edging. The doctor's hood is four feet long with a five-inch edging.

The color of the hood's velvet edging represents the field in which the wearer earned his or her degree. Although black may be used for any area, colors denoting selected fields of learning are as follows at UCF and American universities: all Ph.D.s are edged in dark blue, while professional doctorates, such as the Ed.D., are edged in the color of professional discipline.

The hoods used by American colleges and universities are lined with silk in the official academic colors of the institution that conferred the degree. UCF graduates, for example, will wear hoods with linings of black and gold. Generally, a school's academic colors are identical to its athletic colors.

The academic regalia you see before you today can be traced directly back to the beginnings of the oldest colleges and universities. In 1885, there occurred a widespread student movement in America to wear caps and gowns at commencement ceremonies. The graduating students seemed to feel a need for significant and dignified apparel for the occasion. By 1895, widespread adoption of a uniform code by 95 percent of colleges and universities in the country gave America its own distinct academic regalia. At UCF, the baccalaureate tassel colors are representative of the college. In most cases it represents the discipline of each college below.

However, at any academic gathering, there usually appear regalia which cannot be fathomed by these guidelines. Some of these may be from foreign universities; others are from those American institutions that have preferred to remain with the European tradition of allowing each school to determine its own costume. The result is the academic regalia you see before you today.

THE UNIVERSITY MACE

During the Middle Ages, the mace was an effective weapon in battle, but as newer and more powerful military arms developed, it was transformed into a symbol of authority.

The earliest ceremonial maces were borne by bodyguards of 12th Century English and French kings. By the end of the 16th Century, they were used widely by officials of English cities and towns. Today, the ceremonial mace is found in the British Houses of Parliament and is frequently carried in ecclesiastical processions and in university convocations and commencement ceremonies.

The mace incorporates two symbols identified with the University of Central Florida. The top is cast in the shape of the star found over the Pegasus in the UCF emblem. Inside the star is a reproduction of the “Flame of Hope” sculpture near the John C. Hitt Library.

The mace is cast in bronze with three bronze UCF emblems inlaid at the crest of the rosewood staff. The center of the staff is engraved with the names of the presidents of UCF.

The creation of UCF’s mace was a collective effort by UCF art professor Jagdish Chavda, sculptor David Cambia and wood craftsman David Conway.

THE PRESIDENTIAL MEDALLION

The gold medallion worn by the university president at formal and ceremonial occasions marks the president as a distinguished scholar and administrator, the highest officer of the university, and one who strives to uphold the twin tenets established by its founders: Accent on the Individual and Accent on Excellence.

The medallion is embossed with the university seal showing the mythical Pegasus ascending toward a single heavenly star and the motto, Reach for the Stars. The seal serves as a visible reminder to each member of the university community to strive to reach individual goals. The president has been entrusted to maintain and develop an atmosphere in which these creeds can be realized. The presidential position represented by the medallion epitomizes the foundations and aspirations of the university that the president has pledged to uphold.

As the only UCF official who can formally award a degree, the president recognizes the graduates for meeting the standards of excellence set by the university and for reaching the point from which new ventures begin.

From the presentation of the first medallion in 1968 to charter President Charles Millican to the one worn today, the Presidential Medallion has remained a symbol of academic leadership and the legacy of those pioneers who launched a unique experiment in higher education.

HONORARY DEGREES AWARDED

Honorary degrees are conferred upon distinguished individuals in recognition of extraordinary achievement in scholarship and creativity, or in recognition of a lasting distinction in service to humanity, including meritorious contributions to the university.

The awarding of honorary degrees is a method by which the university expresses its ideals, reveals its character and recognizes exceptional attainments. The greatest recognition the University of Central Florida can bestow upon an individual is an honorary degree.

UCF ALMA MATER

All hail to Alma Mater
Whose banner's Black and Gold

Will wave in fame and splendor
As the passing years unfold

May loyalty and friendship
Within our hearts unite

And light the star to guide us
Ever upward in our flight

With honor and affection
Our friendships will renew

We sing of thee our Alma Mater

Ever true!
